Prior Information Notice

Buyers can advertise their intention to tender future planned procurements by publishing a Prior Information Notice (PIN) on Public Contracts Scotland.

The PIN can be published up to twelve months in advance from the date on which the Contract Notice is sent for publication. PINs will contain some basic information regarding the goods or services to be purchased.

In the vast majority of cases, publishing a PIN is not a mandatory requirement. Some public bodies use them to advertise an opportunity (coming up within the next 12 months) to help you research and start to prepare your bid. PINs are a useful source of information to help you Understand the Market.

Buyers can issue a PIN as a means to seek information from suppliers to the market when developing a procurement.

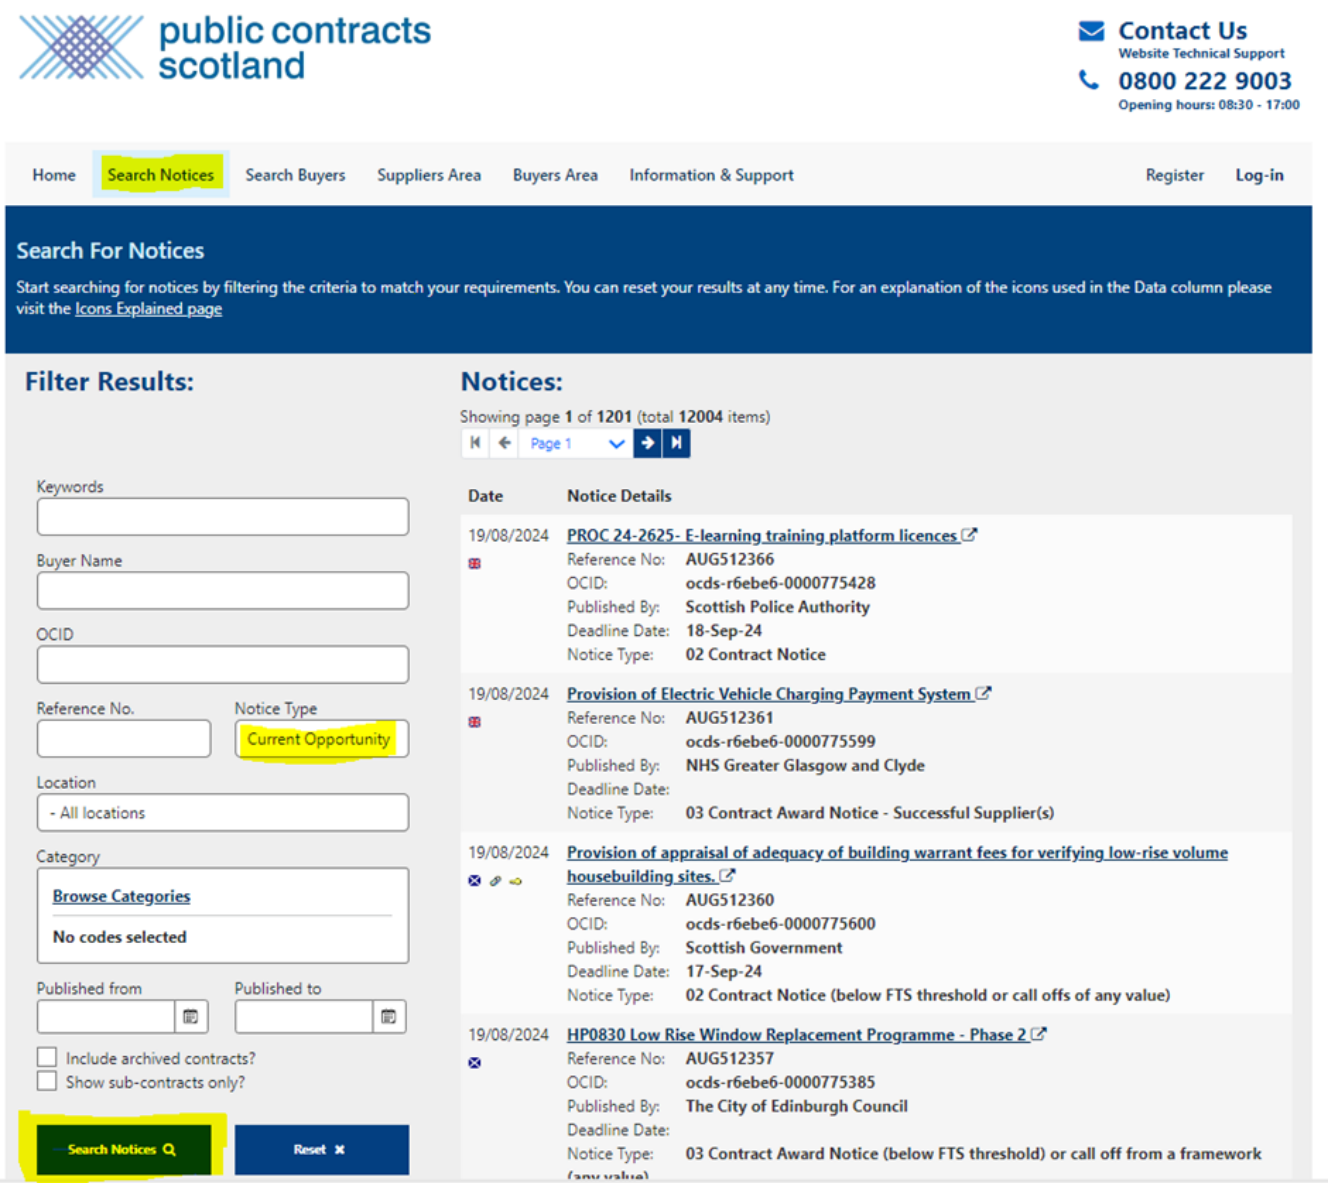

The publication of a PIN can also help the buyer reduce the timescales needed to complete the procurement exercise.

In most cases public bodies will follow up the publication of a PIN with a Contract Notice when they are ready to carry out the procurement exercise.
